Emerging trends in Toxicology are becoming warranted with poisons or chemicals that are being used daily can lead to health issues like hypersensitivity, autoimmune disorders, neurological disorders or to even shadow over next generation, and not only life threatening. Globalisation is making the world as one village but at same time increasing demands, industrialisation and environmental disgrace is mirrored by increasing incidence of inanimate toxicities by various chemicals in the name of residual pesticides, permitted colours, additives, drug induced toxicity and list goes on.

Agadatantra, branch of Ayurveda is based on strong principles of toxicology which has elaborated sources of poisons and treatment thereafter. Stakes are high for present toxicological manifestations, based on these principles for treating or preventing them. To bring these adapted principles of toxicology practice under one roof and explore new horizons including legal aspects of Ayurveda practice, Shri B M Kankanawadi Ayurveda Mahavidyalaya, PG studies and Medical Research Center, Belagavi, Karnataka, is come up to host NIRVISHA - 2018 from 24th to 27th October 2018.
